

Third-Party Damage to Underground and Submarine Cables

Abstract

Most cable failures are caused by third parties. To reduce the main threats to underground and submarine cables, the Technical Brochure proposes to define for each cable system a Cable Protection Index, which is a relative number indicating which cables are most exposed to third-party damage and gives guidelines for setting up a risk reduction process.